Chap and his mother will lose their home to Sonny Boy Beaucoup, who wants to build an alligator wrestling theme park, unless they can bake enough sugar pies to earn the money to buy him off. The child stars are unfriendly, and the understudies are worse. Ruling over every game of make-believe is the Great Queen, a bone-china doll who attacks all who displease .

The inclusion of instruction to would-be oral storytellers throughout affords a rich, detailed, and often humorous view of the world. Rat, an orphan living on the streets, is a native of the Nameless City and is determined not to trust Kaidu. This amazing book allows young readers to experience the world in a new way. Keeper by Kathi Appelt, August Hall Ages 8-12 Since her mother swam away and never returned seven years ago, year-old Keeper, convinced that her mother is a mermaid, has lived on the Texas coast with her guardian Signe. Still, My Monster Burrufuis a charming read that never condescends to its child audience. It is highly recommended for school libraries. With his dragon Starback, Sam sets out to find a way to continue his education.
